

ELIZABETH LEWIS

www.lizlewisphd.com

elizabeth.lewis@gmail.com

EDUCATION

The University of Texas, Austin, TX

Ph.D. in Anthropology, 2017

The University of Chicago, Chicago, IL

M.A. in the Social Sciences, 2006

Carleton College, Northfield, MN

B.A. in Sociology and Anthropology, magna cum laude, 2002

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

Program Manager, Texas Center for Disability Studies, UT Austin 2017-present

- Manage projects on disability, health disparities, community outreach, and family advocacy
- Supervise project personnel and consultants, and maintain ongoing communication with funders, stakeholders, and community partners
- Write and edit project reports, recruitment fliers, IRB applications, curriculum guides
- Research, write, edit, and oversee all aspects of grant proposals from a variety of funders
- Assist in planning disability studies events at UT

Adjunct Professor, Steve Hicks School of Social Work, UT Austin 2018-present

- Design and teach online disability studies courses for undergraduate and graduate students
- Develop presentations and materials for weekly lessons using learning management software

Digital Communications Manager, Society for Medical Anthropology 2014-2016

- Strategized and managed digital communications for leading medical anthropology organization
- Edited and produced a quarterly digital newsletter: solicited content, generated story ideas, corresponded with authors, and wrote original articles; managed editorial, design, and layout
- Worked collaboratively with board members, leadership, communications team, and staff

Contributing Editor, Cultural Anthropology 2010-2014

- Wrote, copyedited, and designed supplemental web pages for journal content
- Collaborated with a team of graduate students, authors, web designers, and editors

ADDITIONAL SKILLS

- Advanced qualitative research, editorial, and writing skills
- Advanced PowerPoint, WordPress, MailChimp, and online learning management platform skills
- Experience publishing multiple original articles, essays, op-eds, expert commentaries, and book and film reviews for both academic and general audiences
- Speaking, reading, and written knowledge of Spanish